

Dixon Celebrates Growth as Trading Center

With Mammoth

3-DAY CELEBRATION SALE

The last half of this week will make history in the business life of Dixon. The merchants of this city have set aside Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week as a "Three Day Celebration Sale" to celebrate Dixon's remarkable progress as a trading center.

Dixon's growth as a mercantile center and trading point has been so phenomenal as to merit special attention. It is due to a number of things, chief among which are the modern, progressive merchants of the city and the location and beautiful attractiveness of Dixon. Increased good roads are ever widening Dixon's trading territory, and the fairness of the merchants in this city, their business methods, their larger stocks of goods, etc., are continually spreading Dixon's fame as the safe and satisfactory place to trade.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week visitors at the stores will find that all the merchants of Dixon have combined to offer a great variety of bargains that should make the buying public realize that Dixon appreciates its patronage.

This issue of the Dixon Evening Telegraph goes into ten thousand homes in this part of Illinois. The ads contained herein will bring many thousands of people to Dixon to take advantage of the splendid offers. Read every advertisement in this paper. They will save you money.

We also urge all those who can do so to visit the Dixon stores Thursday and Friday, as well as Saturday because the Saturday crowd will be unusually large and the advantages of the early shopping are obvious.

Come to Dixon this week—take advantage of the generous offers of Dixon merchants—help Dixon celebrate her spreading popularity.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

Robert Snice and William Rhodes have been selected from the Christian Endeavor to attend the ten-day Summer Conference for Young People at Eureka College, June 30, to July 10. The society will hold an ice cream, cake and strawberry social on the Cleavers' lawn, 703 Brinton avenue, next Friday evening, as a benefit toward meeting the conference expense.

Mrs. Amos Palmer, assisted by Mrs. Armour Wright, will entertain the C. C. Circle, at her home, 610 Brinton avenue, Friday afternoon, at 2:30. Saturday, Section One of the Ladies' Aid Society will conduct a food sale at Ware's Hardware store. The ladies of the Missionary society are planning a "Jubilee Church Supper" for the evening of July 1, at the church.

Thursday, July 17, has been set as the date for the Annual Sunday school picnic. As last year, it will be held in Lowell park. Chairmen of Committees are: Publicity, Mrs. J. E. Reagan; Transportation, G. A. Mercer; Games and Amusements, L. W. Emmert; Dinner, Mrs. W. C. Stauffer.

June 29th ends the general missionary year for the church, and all outstanding pledges on the same should be paid in full to the treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Mamma, by next Sunday at the latest. Reports from the United Missionary society headquarters, St. Louis, indicate enlargement along all lines, with cheering messages of victories on the foreign field. At home signal progress has been made in the standardization of educational institutions, and a vigorous building program among mission churches on the frontier and in city suburbs.

Galesburg Seems to be Doomed Like Sodom

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Galesburg, Ill., June 24.—One man was killed, another knocked unconscious and severely burned and an apartment house damaged when a severe electric storm struck this section this morning. Chester Edmunds, 39, whose home is in Terre Haute, Ill., was the victim of the bolt. He was spending his vacation on the Frank Meyers farm at Stronghurst near here and was walking across the barnyard when struck and instantly killed.

An apartment building here was struck, the bolt tearing a large hole in the wall. None was injured.

Home Burglar Alarm System Easily Made

A BURGULAR alarm system for the home, which can be made and installed by the home owner is one of the best insurances in the world against the "breaking and entry" gang. While the ideal way to install such a system, is while the house is being built, it can, nevertheless, be put in afterwards by anybody, who is at all handy with tools.

The diagrams above, practically tell the method, and they can be followed with little difficulty. The man who starts out to erect the system needs but a handful of tools. A half-inch wood chisel, a three-eighth inch gimlet, about eighteen inches long, a three-inch floor chisel, a compass, a hammer and twenty-five feet of No. 14 iron wire will be sufficient to perform the job.

What Is Needed

For installation equipment he needs sufficient No. 14 bell wire to connect with the windows and doors and return to the switch board, a continuous, ring to operate the alarm bells, a four-inch alarm bell for inside the house, and an eight inch bell for outside, a switch for each window and door connection, a window contact spring for each protected window, and a door spring for each door, and four dry batteries.

LEE CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

POULTRY CULLING AGAIN IN DEMAND

A number of members of the Farm Bureau in Lee County have already made requests for poultry culling demonstrations. As has been the custom in the past, a number of demonstrations are scheduled each year during July, August, September and October to demonstrate the practical and simple method of eliminating the poor hens in the flock.

In 1923 about 24 such meetings were held and it is expected that as many or more will be held in 1924.

Poultry Culling Is New

While the Lee County Farm Bureau was held, poultry culling demonstrations during the last four or five years, this method of eliminating the poorer hen is practically new. The idea has grown rapidly and yet there are hundreds of farmers in Lee County who either do not believe it possible to eliminate the unprofitable hen or else have not taken pains to learn the method and follow it up. It is for this purpose that demonstrations are held to which farmers are invited, to learn the methods of culling. Farm Bureau members are especially urged to get in touch with the Farm Bureau office if they wish a poultry culling demonstration held at their farm.

Children of eight and nine years of age are employed in many Chinese factories.

Robbers Were Busy in Rockford During Night

(Telegraph Special Service)

Rockford—Three robberies between yesterday afternoon and an early hour this morning netted a loss amounting to $2,000 in cash and several thousand dollars' worth of valuable papers, including a 600-pound safe. At 8 o'clock this morning at the offices of the Smith Oil & Refining company, it was discovered that the safe, containing $2,000 in cash and several thousand dollars' worth of negotiable papers had been taken.

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO PAULA PERIER

Y DEAR PAULA:
You will probably be surprised to get a letter from me. First, I want to tell you that I am coming out to California on another business trip. I want to know if you are going to stay in Hollywood all summer, and I should very much miss not seeing you.
Then I want to congratulate you on your latest picture, "Her Last Card." You are improving every picture you make, and I think that the highest compliment I can pay you. In all the others that you have presented you seem to have been selling your way, but in "Her Last Card" you have given much of your own knowledge of life that I do not possess on my suppositions—so I am sure you have brought out.
I wonder if you have reached the place along life's highway where you are able to get a good perspective on some experiences. If you have, you will know that which all of us sooner or later come to know, that all of life is good.
I've been wondering if you've found any one in Hollywood that in any way makes you forget your old friends. Now, I'm not going to make that old, banal statement that I hope you have not done so. On the contrary, I am going to tell you that I hope you have made new friends that take the place of the old. In fact, I'm quite sure you have, for you seem to be growing not only in your art but in beauty. The lines and the drawn look are coming out of your face, and the moment a person stops making new friends that moment that person begins to grow old and ugly and naturally leaves behind the real joy of living.
There are many of us, Paula, who feel that we like to think are true, but are not only false but foolish; and one of them is that "old friends, old shoes and old wine are best," is especially fallacious.
It all depends, you know. Out of

The Well-Dressed Man
By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

The Well-Shirted Man

You can standardize nails and pails, bakers' rolls and telegraph poles, but you cannot standardize dress. That has always been a thing of fancy and personality, and it always will be. The man who does not quite trust his color-sense or matching ability in dress may choose to wear a white shirt, but this displays no more taste than if one wore a black cravat. Such primary colors were in fashion many years ago when all men's clothes conformed to one theme, but this is pre-eminently the age of individuality, stressing the "I" and "My" of the wearer's whim. The colored shirt is much smarter than the white shirt, particularly since colored collars have gained so widespread a vogue.

Just as high-waisted, full-draping, English-type trousers have introduced style where before there never was any—below the knee—so colored collars have made the shirt an appendage of appearance which, long hidden under coat and waistcoat, now inflates its chest and claims equality with any other article of dress.

Shirts of the sort reproduced here are smart for hot-weather wear. The pattern is formed by perpendicular stripes of a contrasting color upon a light background. In the matching round-cornered collar the stripes run the other way, that is, vertically. The four-in-hand scarf is drawn up right-and-tight against the neckband and fastened underneath with a gold safety pin. The French cuffs are square and soft-laundered to tally with the collar.

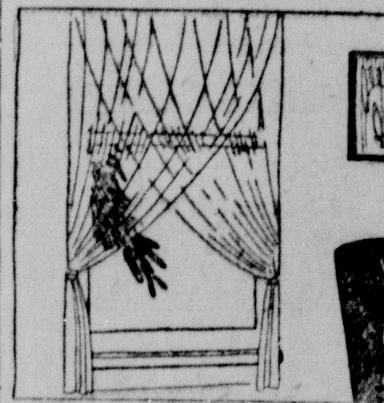

Among the shirtings most in favor this season are silk, English broadcloth, Scotch madras, French percale, batiste, linen, flannel, French satin broche and so on, according to whether you like something simple or sumptuous. Instead of the old-fashioned and baggy garments, the newer shirts are shaped to the figure and really fit. For confessedly sporting use, so-called wrist cuffs, fastening snugly with one or two buttons, replace the regular cuffs. Others have elbow sleeves instead of full sleeves. Still another type, specifically for golf, has a back with a lengthwise centre pleat that permits free arm-reach and shoulder-swing.

the rack of old friendships, one sometimes finds one or two that satisfy as life, with its numerous changes of environment and interests, goes on. Unfortunately one's taste in friendships changes as one's taste in shoes or wine changes. If old shoes are worn over at the heel, and the insides of them do not conform to your feet, they become uncomfortable—they do not fit, and the old wine often tastes more of the cork than of the fragrance of the grape.
I never wear old shoes, principally because I don't like the looks of them. They do not fit my beauty-loving soul. And old wine in these vacation days apt to be spurious. I know very well the people to whom I swore unswerving fidelity in my youth would not appeal to me if I should meet them again now, after years of absence. We have gone very different ways and now look at life from very different standpoints.

Do not misunderstand me, dear Paula. There have been both men and women whose friendship of years standing I still am very glad to hold in my heart. But I have also made new friends who mean quite as much to me. I find great joy in meeting new people and making new friends, and I hope that you have found this great thrill in life as well as I.

TOMORROW: Letter from Sydney Carton to Paula Perier, continued.

HOME FURNISHING.
CROSS CURTAINS
WRONG

The old idea of crossing curtains in a window, as shown here, has been discarded. It is not only lacking in beauty, but it creates a squatty appearance for the window and lacks personality.

"You Can't Beat It!"

PAINTING TIME
Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

The brush brigade is busy and the paint is flyin' fast; the things around the house are lookin' bright. The parents in the household are the leaders of the cast that is puttin' on the show both day and night.
A grassy green is dwindling as a paint pot stands at ease while father dips the brush in perfect rhyme. He's touching up some wicker chairs, while on his hands and knees, preparing for the good old summer time.
And mother spreads some varnish till her bones are aching sore. She takes her time, for things must be just so: She brightens up the surface of the spacious hardwood floor. She soon will have the floor space all aglow.
Then little Jane and Willie, who are only in their teens, have begged to help their parents, goodness knows. And so we find them splashing blots of black upon the screens and also blots of black upon their clothes.
Yes, painting time is with us and it's quite the proper style to don your oldest clothes and join the fun. For fun you'll really make it if you'll work away and smile and know you'll have things brighter when you're done. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

AUTOISTS ARE ASKED NOT TO PICK BLOSSOMS

Motor Club Takes Part in Countryside Pre- servation Plan.

Contemplating a great increase in touring this year the Chicago Motor club has issued a bulletin urging motorists to preserve the countryside. This bulletin urges motorists to refrain from picking wild flowers, to be careful not to pollute streams, to clean up when breaking camp, and to use the utmost caution to prevent forest fires.

The touring bureau of the Chicago Motor club has a number of pledge cards on hand addressed to the Motorists' League for Countryside Preservation. Motorists are urged to obtain and sign these cards, which read: "I, as a member of the Motorists' League for Countryside Preservation, pledge myself to do what I can for the preservation of the countryside, to that all may share in the enjoyment of it. To this end I will leave a resting place or campsite clean; free from papers or litter of any sort. I will be careful in making camps and fires. I will leave the roadside in such a condition that the pleasure to be derived from it by others is not lessened by any careless action of mine."

Fearful of Loss of Crop Crop Farmer Suicides

Brooding over the possibilities of crop failure that might result from the backward spring, Roy Underwood, 45, well known Kaneville farmer, committed suicide early Saturday morning. He fired a bullet into his right temple and died less than an hour later at St. Charles hospital, at Aurora, where he had been removed. Mrs. Underwood went to the barn to call her husband to breakfast at 5:30 o'clock, but received no answer. She heard moans and, pain-stricken, telephoned a neighbor, Ernest Lawrence, who hurried to her and found Underwood lying in the hay, where it had evidently been thrown after the shot was fired.

Underwood, according to neighbors, had been discouraged over what he considered a cheerless outlook. He is said to have brooded over the possibility of crop failure, and this attitude of mind evidenced itself in his daily conversation.

He leaves a widow and four children, two boys and two girls, the oldest, 9 years of age, the youngest, 3. The farm he conducted is owned by Mrs. Underwood's mother, and is located 3 1/2 miles southwest of Kaneville.

DAD'S LUNCH BOX

Hal
Cochran's
DAILY
POEM

Of course father wanted a room of his own so he told Mom about it and then she fixed up a place where he'd be quite alone and the family all called it his den.

A desk and a lamp and a fine leather chair was the usual way to begin it. But now, in a week, you should see what is there; what a fine lot of trash there is in it.

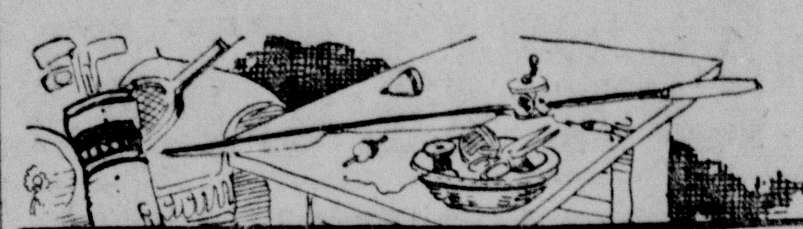

The table is covered with marbles and tops and the bookcase is filled up with toys. A kite, from a string on the chandelier drops and the place is a hangout for boys.

For a day it was nice but it's not any more. To a leather chair sonny's tied Rover. A lot of dad's books are spread out on the floor where the youngster's been looking them over.

Ah, yes, 'tis a den; just a rest room for men and 'twas meant to make father feel glad. But the truth of the matter, mid clutter and clutter, it seems they all use it but dad.

A LARGE EGG
By Associated Press Local Wire
Macomb, Ills.—A large hen egg, measuring seven inches around and fully five inches long, is being ex-

Kellogg's Bran did more in two weeks than medicine taken in 20 years

Out of regard for your own health, read this letter:

Gentlemen:
Your "Krumbled Bran," used by me as a cereal, has done more for me in two weeks than the hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine I have taken in last twenty years for constipation. It is wonderful, and it is so simple.

Yours truly,
Arlington H. Carman,
Patchogue, N. Y.

Mr. Carman's experience has been duplicated in thousands of homes. Why does Kellogg's Bran succeed when drugs and pills fail? The answer is simple. Drugs have an unnatural effect upon the bowels. They irritate the intestines. The more they are used, the more one has to use. Finally, they have no effect at all.

Kellogg's Bran STIMULATES the intestines. It cleans, sweeps and purifies them. It acts exactly as nature acts. And it is never necessary to increase the amount eaten. If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief to the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. For Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be so effective. That is why doctors recommend Kellogg's.

The wonderful, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran is exclusive. It is delicious—totally unlike ordinary bran. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipe on every package. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Dixon Pastor Makes Sermons Warm Enough
in Ice-Cooled Church

The "Ice Cooled Church" is the name by which the Presbyterian church of this city is now known. Last Sunday Reverend Prentiss Hovey Case had a battalion of electric fans shooting cold air over huge cakes of distilled ice so that instead of a hot sultry church the edifice was delightfully cool.

In keeping with the idea of coolness the speaker had discarded the clerical suit of sombre black which he customarily wears in the pulpit and was wearing a two-piece suit of white Palm Beach.

Many who heard of the innovation came to see if it would really work—much fun had been made of the idea on the street—but it did work and it worked before a congregation very much larger than the usual summer church gathering.

Rev. Case in speaking of it said, "The idea is not in any way original. Theatres, stores, and even churches have used the idea before. I am very glad, however, that we have adopted the system for our church here in Dixon. Last Sunday we had an exceptionally large congregation. So far as I could see everyone in the congregation was able to keep awake, not always the easiest thing to do in church on a hot sultry day. Our equipment was of a very temporary nature last Sunday but next week we will have every thing arranged so that the service of the ice cooling system will be even, more effective."

NEGRO SNEAK THIEVES ARE BEING SOUGHTPair Which Worked in Dixon Thought to Be in Freeport.

Dixon and Freeport police are searching for two colored men who are breaking into houses and carrying away money, jewelry and articles of clothing. The pair made their initial appearance here last week when two north side homes were entered during the absence of their owners and well ransacked. Men and women's clothing, jewelry and money were taken. At one place a neighbor witnessed the operations of the men and from him, a description was furnished the police. After the double robbery, the pair went to the Illinois Central on the north side and took the evening passenger train to Freeport.

Yesterday afternoon Chief Van Bibber learned that the two negroes had been ransacking homes in that city and several hundred dollars worth of jewelry, clothing and money was reported to have been taken. Freeport police have asked the Dixon authorities to assist in a search by which it is hoped the pair may be apprehended.

WEST END SEWER
MEETS OPPOSITION
BEFORE CITY DADSSentiment Against New Route for Black Hawk Trail Also Appears.

Strong opposition to the routing of the Black Hawk Trail over East Second street and an equally strong feeling in favor of bringing the route into Dixon on East River street were expressed by delegations of citizens who presented two petitions to the city council at last evening's session. A good sized delegation was present to present the matter to the council. H. U. Bardwell presented the first petition which bore the signatures of many residents and property owners on East Second street and voiced their objections.

The petitioner stated that property owners objected to the bringing of Route 2 into Dixon over East Second street for many reasons. The first of these, he stated, was because of the narrowness of the street, the paving not being in condition to carry the heavy traffic which would follow the improvement, and further that it was detrimental to the property.

River Street Too Narrow

Ray S. Kline presented a petition bearing the signatures of 30 business men and property owners or leasees along East River street, requesting that the council take steps to have the Black Hawk Trail enter Dixon over that route. Commissioner Charles E. Miller explained that he had made several inspection trips over East River street with Commissioner Slothower and he had conferred with O. F. Goeke, supervising engineer in the local division of highways office. The commissioner said that River street was too narrow to comply with the state requirements for a public roadway and that in order to secure the routing of the trail along the river bank, necessary steps to provide sufficient right of way would be necessary.

The council voted to issue licenses for the conducting of soft drink parlors to George E. Williams, 527 Depot avenue, and R. W. Schrock, 502 First street. The application of Arthur Miller, 605 Depot avenue, to erect and maintain a curb gasoline pump was referred to the commissioner of public health and safety with power to act.

Object to Improvement

The board of local improvements had two local improvements scheduled for public hearings. The first of these was the extensive sewer in the west end of the city and there was a large gallery present. County Judge John B. Crabtree was the first to voice his objections to the improvement and stated that he had several lots between Sixth and Seventh streets which were of little value at present. There were many others who joined in the list of objectors and some urged that the improvement as proposed be reconsidered and some of the streets cut off.

William E. Hensel was the chief spokesman for the west end citizens who were in favor of the improvement. "We have lived for 20 years in Dixon and have not had a sewer," he said. "We surely are entitled to it. We have had to put up with cess pools and we want bath rooms. The streets in the west end are in a bad condition because there is no storm sewer to carry the water away. In the west end improvements get a lot of ashes or a little oil, but we want this sewer. It is true that there are a lot of lots on which there are no houses and some are of little value, but give the west end some improvements and these lots will be saleable and improved. Cess pools and septic tanks that are now in use are unsanitary and ought not to be permitted in the city, and in the long run the sewer is sanitary and much cheaper than cess pools and their maintenance."

John E. Morgan Paving
The council took the matter under consideration and then heard objections to the proposed paving of East Morgan street with an 18-foot cement slab and a four-inch curb. There was a great deal of objection to the curb feature, the property owners favoring the plan of laying the 18-foot slab without a curb in order that the paving might later be widened, should traffic along the street increase to that point where it would be necessary.

Nelson Man Lost More
Stock in Sunday Storm

F. W. Hollenbeck, of Nelson, is probably the most experienced lightning expert in this part of the country, albeit the experience has been far from pleasant. Sunday's storm killed four steers on his place, making seven of his herd killed by three strokes of lightning during the past year.

The barn on his farm and a wind mill were wrecked at another time. Several trees show the scars of bolts from the sky and the old saying that lightning never strikes twice in the same place is disproved by a big cottonwood tree that has been struck twice.

Mr. Hollenbeck says he would not think of trying to raise stock on his place without insurance. Since he has lived there he has paid a thousand dollars in premiums for stock killed on his farm.

Now for the Finishing Touches

Text of Address of Senator Thomas
Walsh, Permanent Chairman, Before
Democratic Convention this Morn

Judge not of my gratitude nor of the depth of my appreciation of the honor you do me by the brevity of my acknowledgment, if I say simply, "I thank you." Both are profound.

I am your servant, called to aid you in the discharge of the grave tasks with which you have been entrusted to expedite the business you have in hand, to see that it proceeds in such orderly fashion as is essential to due deliberation and a fair hearing for every cause. I am powerless without your cooperation to these ends. That it will be given in unstinted measure I entertain no doubt. A momentous character of this occasion is universally recognized. The eyes of the world are upon us. We are holding in this great city the metropolis of our country, as the representatives of one of its historic political parties to select the next president of the United States. True, our choice must be ratified in due form, but guided in our deliberations by the spirit of wisdom invoked in prayer the event is not uncertain. The opportunity is before us. The duty, the responsibility, is ours. The nation expects, you demand of us, a leader who exemplifies the principles of government associated with the name of Thomas Jefferson a leader whose heart is attuned to the pulsations of those who labor on the farm and in the mines, at the desk and in the household, who heeds the cry of all the people for a larger life, rather than the plea of the few, the favorites of fortune, who are eager to exploit their fellows; a leader who has the vision to divine and the courage to pursue the paths to which national honor points and that lead to national, as distinguished from exceptional, prosperity. Such a leader our party lately gave to the nation to guide its course and direct its energies in the greatest crisis that ever rocked the globe. The sheer force of his intellectual supremacy among the statesmen of the world, he assumed, by common consent, the primary and holding it gave to the country, in whose name he spoke a place in the family of nations never before attained. He challenged attention to the lofty ideals of America in manner never equalled and met with a response so generous as that for all time her sons will be thrilled at the story of his exposition of them.

Slam at Harding
Insofar as he failed to secure their acceptance as the ruling principles in international relations, his countrymen who derided his efforts and derided his influence must bear the blame. Note the bitter fruits of their triumph. Proclaiming that selfishness is the only constant or controlling factor in intercourse between governments and duplicity ever to be apprehended, the view found ready acceptance that season of storm, represented affairs are only the vain hope of the visionary. "Back to normalcy" meant that to the methods and practices of a day that was dead, of a generation ago, when Hanna ruled and Aldrich legislated, when the senate was a millionaire's club, doing the bidding of the "invisible government." In an atmosphere tainted with such mischievous views, Newberry readily aspired to a seat in the upper house of congress to be achieved by the lavish and corrupt expenditure of his great wealth, and in the general let-down in the moral tone met with a temporary success.

Every predatory interest foregathered to restore to power the protagonists of venal and discarded theory of government, and having accomplished that end, they or their representatives swarmed about the president-elect and the pulchritude of the capitol, each seeking to promote his own individual selfishness project or purpose. It was easy to pass from the idea expressed in "every nation for itself" to the related thought in "every man for himself." This recession to a lower moral standard was not a phenomenon without a historic parallel.

A little less than a generation ago a president of the United States repeatedly declaimed, in what was so regarded as intemperate language, against the sordid and corrupt influences that had become manifest in our national life. He did more. He invoked the penalties of the law against malefactors, high and low, and if it be true, as charged, that he occasionally looked leniently on the offenses of his friends, if it equally true that his acts as well as his words contributed materially to a restored respect for the Moslem command, "Thou Shalt Not Steal," as applicable no less to affairs of government than to those of private life. There followed a period when a complacent president tolerated the return of the spirit partially exercised by his predecessor, given rise to the Ballinger scandal, a symptom of the resurgence of the elements within his party that had used and were determined to use the agencies of the government within, and wherever safe, without the law, for private gain.

The catastrophe which overtook the republican party in consequence of the revolt in its own ranks against the sinister influences which dominated it need not be recounted, but it is significance of the character of their protest that that organization was denounced by one-half of its former adherents as essentially and irretrievably corrupt, and that they signified their severance from it by singing "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Walsh is Most
I say nothing of the period of democratic ascendancy which followed, further than that after public moans, in sums the magnitude of which the ordinary mind has and can have no adequate conception except by comparison, had been authorized and spent in the prosecution of the great-heartedness of all time, by those who, during that season of storm, represented us officially and investigation after investigation, undertaken by their political opponents, had revealed nothing, the inquiry collapsed under the scorn of the gentleman who, two weeks ago, was accorded by the republican party the second honor in its gift.

When it is remembered that it was the same elements within it that controlled and wrecked that party in 1912, which retained the supremacy in 1920 over a more or less reunited organization, contemptuous of all aspirations having a spiritual basis, either in national or international affairs, arrogant in victory, it is not surprising that its promises solemnly made in its platform to promote the organization of an association of nations, for the adjustment of international controversies, to supplant the league of nations with which the name of the greatest American president, save only Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, is so intimately associated, should be speedily consigned to oblivion.

These things considered, it will not appear so strange either that the new president was speedily surrounded by a group of mercenaries, whose sinister purpose he was, from his kindly nature, loathe to suspect and, for one reason or another, unable to discern. What a galaxy: Forbes, Fall, Daugherty, Jess Smith, Mannington, Felder, Kramer, with Roxie Stinson and Gaston B. Means in the background.

Was the appearance of these worthless purely accidental, sporadic in character? If it was not to be apprehended on account of conditions so bitterly denounced by the revolting republicans in 1912, consider how the leaders of the party to which they belonged have treated them in their various sequences and villainies. What claron voice has been raised from any high official quarters against Forbes, or Fall, who bartered away an all-important element of the national defense under circumstances he dare not tell lest he confess criminality?

In its virile youth the men whose names blazon the pages of the history of the republican party did not hesitate to declaim against the corruption that was sapping its vitality. The venality that stained the administration of General Grant, though it left him untouched, was denounced by none more roundly or with greater effect than by William Cullen Bryant, William E. Curtis, Carl Schurz, Lyman Trumbull, Joseph Medill, Charles Francis Adams and John Bigelow, political associates of Abraham Lincoln. They found no extenuation of the crimes that in their day polluted the record of the party they had helped set on foot, in a supposed after-the-war psychology.

Instead of exhorting the unfaithful public servants of whose misdeeds the uttermost parts of the earth are not uninformed, to the disgrace of the nation as well as of themselves, palliation is attempted in the absurd observance, emanating from the white house, that "men are involved who belong to both political parties," a charge characterized by one of the few republican papers that have declined to condone the offenses revealed, as a "paltry bit of political misrepresentation."

Citizens Asked to Help Pay for Boys'
Band Concerts Here

Various committees are soliciting funds for the Boys' Band to assure them playing concerts this summer. The Boys' Band was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, they raising the necessary money to purchase uniforms. Now that the Boys' Band has gained a place in the community it should be looked upon as a community organization. The committees who are soliciting represent the Woman's Club, the Boys' Band Mothers, Kiwanis Club, Gryo Club, the American Legion, the Elks and other organizations. All citizens of Dixon are asked to support this worthy cause, and in case anyone is not called upon for a donation he is asked to send donations to Oliver Rogers, general chairman, or to the Chamber of Commerce, the community headquarters for all worthwhile enterprises.

Newsy Notes of Democrats Told
by A. P. Writers

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, June 25.—With another hot day in prospect delegates to the democratic national convention, before entering Madison Square Garden today, took a look about for "the Mothers of New York" a group of women, who yesterday distributed fans to all those attending the convention.

These women yesterday were about the most popular in the convention as they distributed arms full of strong paper fans. The scarcity of tickets appeared to continue today as on the opening day yesterday, but the supply of badges seemed to be on the increase, many enterprising gentlemen having discovered that a badge is almost as good as a ticket.

Hotel lobbies last night were pretty well sprinkled with persons wearing official badges, which will get them into the convention.

Governor Smith today has the baseball bat intended by "Babe" Ruth for the late President Harding. When here to speak at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press in April, 1923, Mr. Harding in talking to "the king of swat" expressed a desire for an autographed bat. But Mr. Harding died before Ruth could deliver the bat.

Ruth yesterday offered the New York governor the bat he had autographed for President Harding. "Governor, I'm glad to see you set for a home run," Ruth remarked. "If I can handle the delegates the way you handle a bat, the result will be all right," the governor said.

Vance C. McCormick, Pennsylvania, former democratic chairman, says he is having the time of his life, "sitting on the side lines watching the fun." Mr. McCormick, who managed President Wilson's second presidential campaign, said he was not taking any part in the convention activities, had no candidate and did not know who would win the presidential nomination.

While serious minded men and women were presenting matters for the welfare of the nation to the democratic platform committee in a sweltering hot hotel room, last night, many men and women, attired in gay evening clothes were dancing in the adjoining small ball room. Frequently the pounding of the gavel by Homer S. Cummins, chairman of the platform committee, kept time with the music.

From One Little Ad.

A Dixon lady advertised in the Telegraph for a maid and twenty-five applicants were heard from.

Greetings to Gryo
Club from Kiwanians

The Dixon Kiwanis club at its regular session Tuesday noon passed the following resolution, a copy of which has been sent to the president and secretary of the Gryo club:

Whereas, there has been formed in the City of Dixon a "Gryo club," composed of progressive and enterprising young men whose spirit and purpose we admire, therefore,

Be it resolved by the members of the Kiwanis club of Dixon, that we hereby extend to the members of said Gryo club, our most cordial greetings and congratulations, assuring them of our heartfelt desire to co-operate with them in the spirit of true fraternity in all the laudable purposes of public enterprise and private social improvement in which they may engage, and trusting that there may ever be as between us only the most friendly rivalry in the accomplishment of all good ends.

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the secretary of said Gryo Club and another to the public press. Kiwanis Club of Dixon, Ill.

OIL PROBER
STIRS THROUG WITH ADDRESSPent Up Enthusiasm of Delegates Released
in Honoring Him

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 25.—Pent-up fires of democratic enthusiasm, fed by the rivalries that are moving beneath the surface, found a tumultuous outlet today in the big convention hall.

It was Senator Walsh of Montana, oil committee proponent, who set the convention aflame when he appeared on the platform to make his address as permanent chairman.

From the moment his selection to the place was announced the Garden rang with cheers of approbation as delegates began a howling parade of roses. The band leader, evident in uncovering the scandal of Teag Dome.

It was more than ten minutes before the Montana senator proceeded with his address as permanent chairman.

Nobody seemed to be in a hurry getting down for today's session. Ten minutes before the day's session was scheduled to begin, there were who sat in the aisles of empty seats in the served sections. Delegates and alternates trickled in prepared for a hot day.

Walsh in Formal Dress

Among early arrivals was Permanent Chairman Walsh who came in formal dress looking very hot and uncomfortable, but nevertheless very formal. The photographers pounced upon him and put him through a sort of gauntlet of empty seats in the served sections. Delegates and alternates trickled in prepared for a hot day.

Meanwhile the delegates, alternates and visitors were moving in.

Temporary Chairman Harrison was among the next arrivals on the platform. The keynoter had shed the long tailed coat of yesterday and looked more comfortable today.

The convention managers, some of whom were in the audience, were alarmed at the sight of strikers on the floor yesterday, had given strikers that no one but delegates and alternates were to be permitted in the delegate section today.

War Horses Bounced

The first result was that a lot of party war horses, notables and privileged characters who do not happen to be delegates but nevertheless are in the inside of the management of the convention promptly got bounced. It took several kinds of arguments and persuasion to get them back in.

The assembling hour today was 6 o'clock, eastern daylight saving time and ten minutes after that hour the long rows and wide blocks of new kitchen chairs provided for the delegates and alternates were waiting for occupants but the aisles were crowded with delegates milling around anxious to find out what happened over night in the little conference about town which eventually are going to decide something important.

Some of the first evidences of the organized demonstrations to come were given today. The McAdoo people were on hand passing out private copies of the "McAdoodle" songs the will sing when they start stirring up the noise for their candidate.

"Yankee Doodle." "Over There." "Maryland, My Maryland." These and the like were sung by the McAdoo women and some committee came supplied with yell.

Partly in Open Air

Today's session was held partly in the open air, for the great glass panels in the Garden roof had been rolled back, the decorations in the rafters had been folded aside and the delegates, looking upward could see the sky. The arrangement gave the breaths of air. Chairman Walsh took out his pocket handkerchief and carefully dusted off his chair before he trusted his new cutaway coat tails to it.

Just a half hour after meeting time Temporary Chairman Harrison began pounding for order.

The crowded aisles gave little heart to the temporary chairman's pleas to clear the aisles and be seated so Mr. Harrison sent the sergeants at arms to do the job.

Aided by Policemen, they finally succeeded in coaxing or pushing delegates into their chairs.

Imagined Himself in Senate

Meanwhile Senator Harrison calling for order imagined himself in the senate chamber and called "clear the galleries." When the sergeants at arms took the delegates spaces were nearly filled but there still were a great many empty seats in the guest sections. Thomas Taggart of Indiana, who is managing the movement for Senator Nelson, held a series of earnest conferences while the aisles were being cleared.

Prayer of Bishop Gailor at Second Day of Convention

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, June 25.—Bishop Thomas F. Gailor of the Episcopal church offered the following prayer at today's session of the democratic national convention:

"O, most gracious God, we give Thee thanks and praise for this land in which our heritage is cast; for our freedom to worship Thee; for the government in which we share; for the honor and glory of our country."

"Make us worthy of the blessings we enjoy. Defend our liberties; preserve our unity; save us from discord and confusion and from every evil way and endue with the spirit of wisdom, justice and truth those to whom we entrust the authority of government."

"For this convention we implore Thy presence and power, that the representatives of our people may have a right judgment and their deliberations may be so ordered and governed by reverence for Thy word and Thy law, that peace and contentment, justice and righteousness may reign and that the nation may be an instrument and agent of help and blessing to all mankind."

FOUR-LEAF CLOVER—
 I know a place where the sun is like gold,
 And the cherry blossoms burst with snow,
 And down underneath is the loveliest nook,
 Where the four-leaf clovers grow.
 One leaf is for hope, and one is for faith,
 And one is for love, you know;
 And God put another in for luck—
 If you search you will find where they grow.

But you must have hope, and you must have faith,
 You must have love and be strong—and so,
 If you work, if you wait, you will find the place
 Where the four-leaf clovers grow.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

Clear Soup.
 When making clear soup the pan must be left uncovered during the cooking process.

With Cold Meats.
 With cold meats serve thin slices of toast sprinkled with green pepper and a thin layer of mayonnaise.

Coffee Ices.
 Coffee makes an excellent flavoring for ice cream and for puddings and cake frostings.

Economical Salad.
 Any remains of cold meat can be finely chopped and mixed with shredded lettuce or watercress or parsley and molded in a jelly or gelatine to form a delicious salad. Serve with mayonnaise or any fairly thick salad dressing.

String Beans.
 Green string beans should be boiled until tender then drained and placed in a pan with a teaspoon of fine herbs, pepper, salt and lemon juice and two ounces of butter. Hold over the fire until the butter is melted.

For Cheese.
 A bit of cayenne pepper added to the cheese you serve with macaroni improves the flavor.

Cinnamon Toast.
 You can make excellent cinnamon toast by toasting the bread on one side first, then buttering and adding the sugar and cinnamon before toasting the other side.

Bedtime—One cup skimmed milk.
 Total calories, 1693. Protein, 387; fat, 195; carbohydrate, 516. Iron, .0216 gram.

The lettuce sandwiches are made with whole wheat bread, unbuttered, and several leaves of head lettuce, carefully chilled and dried.

Serve the radishes with the bouillon. They furnish needed bulk and minerals.
 If you prefer you may drink your entire pint of milk at bedtime instead of saving half for a "night cap."

It may help you in gauging your own meals if you know that 1 nice fat stalk of asparagus means about 5 calories. One pound of asparagus cooked, provides 39 calories of protein, 139 of fat and 41 of carbohydrate and .0043 gram of iron.

GAIN WEIGHT.
 Breakfast—One large glass orange juice, 1/2 cup cooked wheat cereal, 1/4 cup cream, 1 soft boiled egg, 2 pieces crisp rye toast, 3 slices French toast, 3 tablespoons maple sirup, 1 or 2 cups hot water.

Mid-morning lunch—Two peanut butter sandwiches, 1 cup milk.

 Dinner—One cup jellied bouillon, 4

radishes, 3 ripe olives, 1/2 broiled chicken, 3 new potatoes in cream, 4 tablespoons buttered string beans, 10 stalks asparagus on 2 ounces lettuce with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 4 tablespoons raspberry ice, 1 large piece angel cake, 2 dinner rolls, 1 tablespoon butter.

Bedtime—One cup whole milk.
 Total calories, 3963. Protein, 491; fat, 1540; carbohydrate, 1932. Iron, .0225 gram.

The assorted sandwiches are the ordinary tea size. Bran bread with raisins made into plain bread and butter sandwiches, cucumber with mayonnaise, lettuce with mayonnaise and preserved ginger and cream cheese sandwich were the assortment calculated.

The fattening foods are also the "heating" foods and as the weather grows warm you will find it necessary to watch your diet and count your calories with even greater care. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

South Dixon Community Club

Eighteen members and a large number of friends of the South Dixon Community club met at the pleasant home of Mrs. Peter Hoyle and enjoyed a delightful afternoon Wednesday.

THREE-PIECE COSTUME

Here is a three-piece costume that departs from studied simplicity and becomes richly decorative. White silk crepe, printed in gorgeous floral patterns is the material used for both the dress and the cape. A band of white fur bands the cape and forms the collar. Each part of the costume forms a complete unit alone, the dress being very interesting without the cape, and the cape being equally attractive over other summer gowns. Printed materials are very fashionable now, and the gayer the colors and the more striking the pattern the more desirable they are.

temperance done by the women, but he said there was evidence of the consumption of a great deal of alcohol, made from rice, also a great deal of opium consumed.
 Two pleasing numbers were given on the piano by Ella Smith, "Night

Reverie," and "Love's Old Sweet Song."
 The devotions were conducted by Mrs. A. S. Moore. Mrs. Bessie Tabor rendered a vocal number, "All the World for Christ."

A vocal duet was sung by Mrs. Gebhart and Mrs. Willford, "The Old Rugged Cross."

All numbers on the program were highly appreciated and the speakers were assured of the hearty appreciation of those present before leaving the meeting. There were many beautiful bouquets carried by the women to the sick.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Carpenter.

HALF WILL FAIL TO VOTE.

Nearly half of the citizens who were endowed to vote in the 1920 presidential election didn't vote at all. For every 100 who voted, 96 stayed away from the polls. This was figured out recently by Simon Michelet, Washington lawyer, who served several years
as secretary of the late Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota.

The same thing will probably happen this year. Michelet claims that the "stay-at-home voter" could elect or defeat any candidate for president. He's right. That's obvious.
Michelet's analysis showed that over 25 million citizens, eligible to vote in 1920, failed to go to the polls. The people who did vote totaled 26,713,832, totaling votes cast for all candidates.

And the vote-slackers yell the loudest when anything goes wrong in Washington.

Nearly 30 million Germans voted in their national election in May. That's more than the vote for president in the United States.
And yet we have nearly twice as many population as Germany.

They take their government seriously over there. They go to the polls and get what they want—instead of staying away and grumbling when government fails to please.

The ballot is the foundation of democratic government. Here in America, citizens by their ballots have virtually unlimited power to make any change they want and bring about any reform or condition they desire—simply by using their ballots intelligently.

Now, if Americans were paid $5 apiece for voting, how many would stay away from the polls?

And yet failure to vote may cost a citizen good many times $5—in the form of inefficient government, high taxes and waste of public funds.

If you stay away from the polls this fall, you signify indifference as to what kind of government you live under and what is done with this America of which you are a part owner.

HAS HIS GOOD POINTS.

The porcupine is protected by law in most places, a stiff fine as the penalty for killing him, because he's the only animal that a man can kill in the woods with a club.

Occasionally a porcupine dashes up a tree when a man approaches. But usually he stands trustingly, like a lamb awaiting slaughter.

His nose is his vulnerable spot. A sharp blow kills.

Nature overlooks no bets. She provides for everything. We realize this when we ponder that an easily killed animal is placed in the woods for lost starving men.

Nature provides for us in nearly every other emergency, barring accidents. Nearly all our social and economic problems are due to violations of natural laws. The solution of these problems is in studying natural laws, rather than by legislation.

Cities have more and more problems as they get larger, simply because they're getting farther and farther from nature.

The porcupine is man's best friend for an emergency meal in the woods. And yet the average man, as soon as he sees a porcupine, wants to kill it.

Mr. Porc, of course, isn't harming the man.
But the man has a vicious streak that prompts him to destroy—when the destruction doesn't hurt the man's personal property or body.
You've observed that hotel guests rarely are as careful of furnishings as they would be at home where their own belongings are concerned. Did you ever see a man wipe his shoes with a towel he owned himself?

The porcupine has the reputation of being able to throw his quills. He can't. What he does is swing quickly about, trying to smack his tail against his attacker. Soon as the tail hits, a nervous convulsion loosens the quills and the force of the blow drives them in.

Only two animals can kill a porcupine curled in a ball. Man uses a club. A fox lies on his back, sticks his long nose forward, catches
Mr. Porc's nose and twists him over, kills by a bite in the neck and eats his way into the carcass through the stomach—which, like the under neck, has no quills.

FORD KEEPS GOING.

Henry Ford sails serenely even during a business slump. In May, when the steel industry was sagging to 50 per cent capacity and the auto industry in general was inspecting its life preservers, Ford sold 209,601 passenger cars and trucks. That's about two and a half million a year.

Many wonder at Ford's success. And yet it's all based on a very simple principle—selecting a useful device that everybody needs and wants, and then manufacturing it at a popular price. Ford isn't the only one who has cleaned up millions this way.

1804.

Prof. Fisher says the buying power of the dollar is somewhere around 69 cents, compared with its pre-war purchasing power.
That's true.

And yet an American silver dollar worth
$12,000 was found recently in Lancaster, O.
It was one of the famous issue of the year 1804. Only seven others are known to be in existence. Its value is in its scarcity. That's about all there is to any value.

ARRESTED.

A Chicago woman, 50 years old, notorious pickpocket, arrested for the 232d time. She has been in 12 penitentiaries and 62 jails, and has paid fines totaling more than 25-000, police say.

There was a time when she was an innocent little girl with no thought of breaking the law.

Crime is 90 per cent environment and association, not more than 10 per cent natural inclination.

TIME.

The world's first clock was in the tower of San Tustorgio in Milan, Italy. It was placed there in the year 1359. That's a long time to us who live only a few years, but a short time in the long history of humanity.

People can be very annoying, but if it wasn't for them you wouldn't know anybody.

TOM SIMS SAYS

Everybody on a political machine wants to blow the horn.

Falling in love is about like loafing. Both use up more time than a busy man can spare.

The more beautiful the moon the more autos you see parked by the side of the pike fixing punctures.

Some mysterious person in Florida is shooting mules at night, possibly under the delusion that they are jazz bands.

It must be nice to be running for vice president and know you won't be noticed for the next four years of your win.

Three armed bandits got $43,500 from a New York jeweler, so now they have enough to spend a week-end at a fashionable summer resort.

"Autos," says a professor, "are making people lose the use of their legs." But we would say they develop pedestrian legs like bullfrogs.

When a man's wife makes him lead a dog's life he goes to the bow-wows.

A new serum is supposed to destroy the taste for alcohol, but if bootleg booze fails no serum will succeed.

It seems as if the only men who try to grow mustaches are those who can't.

Don't worry if daughter comes home from swimming looking pale. The water has washed off the rouge. That's all.

The second crop of straw hats will be ripe soon.

It must be awful to work in a bank and count so much money and get so little of it.

Straw hats are beginning to feel as natural now as overcoats did a few months ago.

Your lot could be worse. Suppose you were a society girl and had to sit down and be still a few minutes?

An optimist is a man who enjoys working for a living.

Men have been wearing ties hundreds of years without knowing why.

"We're going to Spain," said the little garden fairy.

"Tira-Lira-Loo!" called Johnny Jump Up. "Wake up, Nancy and Nick."

"I'm awake!" answered Nick quickly.

"So am I," said Nancy. "Are we going away, Johnny?"

"We're going to Spain," said the little garden fairy. "Tommy Titmouse is all ready and waiting."

Soon both of them were dressed and Johnny Jump Up gave them the magic shoes which they put on.

They began to shrink up until you could have put the two of them into a mustard pot.

Then out of the window and down the vine they crept, and there they were in the garden.

"I hope you will have a nice time, too," called the fairy from the red rose.

"Don't you hope I'll have a nice time, too?" inquired Tommy Titmouse. "Are there any bugs and worms in Spain?"

"The little Spanish lady laughed. "Yes, of course there are, Tommy. As big as alligators."

"Huh? What's that?" cried the little bird. "Then you can just go there without me. Maybe the bugs in Spain eat the birds instead of the birds eating the bugs."

"Oh, come on, Tommy," said Johnny Jump Up. "Now who is doing too much talking? Here, punch these tickets and we'll be going."

"Are the bugs as big as alligators, honest?" asked Tommy nervously.

"No, I was only fooling," laughed the little rose fairy merrily. "Go on! You'll have a good time."

Like many other countries they had visited, it was daylight in Spain although it was night at home. Mister Sun wakens the Spanish children and French children and English children and Italian children long before he pokes his nose up over the hills in America.

Tommy Titmouse settled down on top of a mountain. "These mountains are called the Pyrenees," said Johnny Jump Up. "That's easy to remember because it sounds like pair of knees."

Find Alligator's Body.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Peoria, Ill.—The body of an alligator, measuring six feet in length and weighing more than 100 pounds, was found by riverman near the Eagle Packet company freight house on the Illinois river, near here. The alligator had been dead but a few days.

Several years ago four alligators escaped from the Central Park zoo in Peoria and it is thought that the animal may have been the one that escaped. Examination of the teeth by experts showed that the animal was more than 100 years old.

Chicken Stripped of Feathers by the Hail
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Galesburg, Ill.—Julius Kidder of this city, who declares that his name has no significance when it comes to story-telling, says that a hailstorm which swept this city stripped his pet hen of all her feathers, as well as her cackle.

Julius has bought a blanket to keep the pet warm, but he can discover no method to restore her voice.

Woman on Review Board.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Quincy, Ill.—Miss Rose Niehaus, Quincy's police matron, is believed to be the first woman to be appointed to a place on a county board of assessment. The appointment of Miss Niehaus to the Alton county board was made by Judge H. H. Naurel, of this city, who stated that he believed Miss Niehaus to know as much as any man about the position.

FABLES ON HEALTH
LAYING THE DUST
After the spring rains the hot sun comes and then—DUST
It drifted into the Mann home, as it does elsewhere, stirred up by every summer breeze as Mrs. Mann would run her finger over the shelves and sigh.
That's the time to get out a slightly dampened rag and start dusting up.
Keep that old feather duster in the closet where it belongs!
Hygienists declare that the old dusters merely succeeded in sending the dust particles scattering about again. They are not moppe up as they should be.
A damp cloth or oiled rag is the best, the hygienists say.
A carpet sweeper is more hygienic than a broom and a vacuum cleaner is better than either.
Dust catching curtains, chairs and plush are unhygienic.
The up-to-date movable rug is better than the stationary carpet.
For bacteria rides in the air and is likely to take the dust particle for a gallop through the room.
So when doing the summer dusting DO IT WITH DAMPENED RAGS

Peoria, Ill.—By unanimous consent of Peoria's aldermen, pigeons which hereafter pick Peoria as their

as do horses, mules and other animals. A resolution depriving the birds of their liberty was passed by gathering of guests next Mon-evening and night, when the ten th Ford automobile will arrive from New York City on its way to Chicago over the Lincoln highway, driven by Frank Kullik, one of the first two models of the continent. A caravan of business men with decorated automobiles will go to Rochelle Monday evening where they will meet the Ford, escorting them to this city. The evening after supper, the 40-and from the Ford Motor works Detroit, Mich., will furnish a complete moving picture showing the Ford in this wonderful plant shown. The place for the staging program will be announced in the week and the general public is invited, no charge being made. The delegation will be accompanied from Chicago by several of the men from the Windy City branch dealers as well, forming into a convoy of about a mile in length. During the night stay here, the visitors will be the guests of the firm of Netz-schy, local dealers.

The car completed June 4th.
The millionth Ford car was completed at the Highland Park plant, Detroit, 1924, the first vehicle ever to number of eight figures. Motor number 10,000,000 was assembled during the morning and in the afternoon
it was driven from the assembly line, lusty cheers, came from the hundreds of employees who were in making it and motion pic-turers clicked. A large assignment of officials was present.
The car was almost immediately driven to Dearborn where Henry and Ford inspected it and pictures made showing number 10,000,000 by side with the first Ford car.

ADVICE TO THE JUNE GRADUATE

BY WILLIAM C. DEMING
PRESIDENT, U. S. CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

Uncle Sam a Good Employer; Rewards Zeal with Promotion and Useful Training

The young graduate may enter civil service after first determining the position for which he is best qualified by training and natural ability. Information regarding the civil service examinations may then be obtained from any of the civil service secretaries located at 3504 postoffice through-out the country, or by writing to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

The education required of government employees depends entirely upon the nature of the work for which they seek to qualify, and is specified in each case in the announcement of examination. There are 1500 different kinds of positions for which the commission holds examinations each year. Ability, ambition, industry and absolute trustworthiness are weighty factors in the government service. Personality, progressiveness, initiative, and all the personal elements which count in private employment, apply with even greater force in government work.

The aspirant for the first five years may expect, to say the least, to get as much out of his work as he puts into it. His work is measured as to quality and quantity, and advancement comes as his merits permit. Five years should find him progressing toward a worthwhile goal.

The tremendous activities of the government require the services of many young men and women who have received professional, scientific, and technical training. The fields of chemistry, engineering and agriculture are only a few in which there is a demand for qualified applicants.

Initial salary for junior professional and scientific positions is $1860 a year. Salaries range from this figure up to about $5000 a year.

The employee's income is measured by his demonstrated worth. The more valuable he makes himself the more assured his advancement.

Unusual ability is rewarded by rapid promotion. There are numerous instances of men who have risen from the classified ranks to positions commanding annual salaries of from $5000 to $7500. Others have received training in government service which has qualified them to hold positions paying $12,000 a year and more in private employment.

The possibility for the civil service worker has never been brighter. Recent reclassification legislation provides for more adequate salaries. Government offices, workshops and laboratories are equipped with the most modern appliances. The great government scientific libraries are easily accessible. All conditions are favorable for the civil service worker to advance in his work.

The government service is not crowded, although for the great majority of positions there is an ample supply of eligibles. But for the positions requiring specialized training, examinations are being held frequently and there is usually good opportunity for employment. Opportunities for government employment total about 50,000 annually. New activities may augment this number.

Civil service not only offers reasonable living, but furnishes a splendid opportunity for public service and an incentive to realize culturally, mentally, and morally the greatest possibilities of the individual.

CARD OF THANKS.
TEN CENTS PER LINE FOR
Evidently there are some who do not understand that Card of Thanks run in a newspaper is purely a personal matter and not news, and consequently something for which a charge is made in all papers. Seventy-five cents is the minimum price in the Telegraph, so if those wishing a card run would send the money with copy it would save all further annoyance.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS MUCH OF FUEL PROBLEMS

Fine Paper By Former Dixon Man is Read at Tuesday Lunch.

C. C. Upham, noted fuel engineer of New York, a former Dixon man, who spends several months of each year in this city, recently prepared a paper which was read before the Dixon Kiwanis club at noon yesterday by Hal Bardwell, former secretary of the organization. The paper follows:

To quote from a recent article in one of the magazines. In its recent and personal aspect the fuel problem presents itself to most of us in two equally different phases: first, how to obtain the coal we need and, second, how to pay for it after we get it. No longer may we rely upon the wood lot behind the barn for adequate reserves of fuel. We now depend upon coal. Whether the coal civilization is on the whole better than the man power civilization which Thomas Jefferson so ardently prayed might persist in America, is perhaps more open to question than we realize; it is certainly more debatable than we admit; but, for better, for worse, here it is and here it is to stay.

Consumption Increases
Fifty years ago we produced 33,000,000 tons of coal, and now the annual production amounts to about 700,000,000 tons. We mined in 1870, 28,000,000 pounds of copper; recently the annual production was 1,300,000,000.

While our per capita consumption of petroleum was .83 of a barrel in 1900 it is now four barrels per capita for the whole population.

With more than half of the world's coal reserves in the United States we have permitted a situation to develop which has involved shortage at the mines with the miners on strike or "on vacation" famine at consuming points, embargoes, priority rulings, and the complexities of fuel administration by the states, there is a noticeable shortage of men at the bituminous mines, and there is serious shortage of coal cars. The men work little more than half time. They show a broad catholicity in the observance of church holy days, whether it is their own church that celebrates, or some other. With winter upon us the anthracite miners take a vacation, and this curtails the output by 3,000,000 tons.

In Anthracite Field
The smallness of the anthracite field, which, by the way, contains only about 150 tons per capita, has favored a closeness of control under which effective mining methods have been developed in spite of opposing laws. Bituminous coal of which we have vast reserves estimated at 15,000 tons for each inhabitant of our country, falls, nevertheless, to meet its obligations.

Probably it is proper at this point to say something about the B. T. U. system adopted by the British people many years ago for comparing one material with another for instance; it will be noticed that bituminous coal has the greatest amount of heat in it. Next is coke. While oil has much greater heat producing power than either.

About B. T. U. Units
A B. T. U. means that amount of heat which will raise the temperature of water 1 degree fahrenheit from 60 degrees to 61 degrees.

B. T. U. per lb.

Coal (bituminous)	14,000
Anthracite coal	11,800
No. 1, 2, 3 buckwheat, fine anthracite	11,600
Coke or artificial anthracite	12,600
Oil	19,000
B. T. U. per cu ft
Coke oven gas	375
Water gas	350
Producer gas	250
To make illuminating gas add gas oil to last 3.) For producing the proper candle power to comply with the city ordinance. Gas once was furnished and sold by the candle power.

The present spectacular boom in oil, the feverish search throughout the world for new producing fields; the immediate shortage in our own supply and the impending exhaustion of our oil reserves; the new oil burning navies and merchant fleets; the enforced economy in the employment of gas oil for carbureting water-gas; the flood of gasoline required to drive automobiles, trucks, tractors, power boats and aeroplanes, and its soaring price—all bear witness that the fuel problem is not confined to coal. More than 90 per cent of the automobiles in the world are in the United States. For this tremendous use of automobiles gasoline must be supplied. We consume today about 150,000,000 barrels of gasoline a year. This consumption will leave about 60 per cent in the ground in the shape of oil.

Water Gas (so-called)
Water gas is made by using anthracite coal or coke and blasting or blowing the material alternately with steam or air in a gas producer or generator. (And if there is an ordinance requiring a certain candle power, the addition of gas oil for introducing the illuminating quality of the gas, depending on the candle power provided by the city ordinance, or by the contract between the gas company and the city.)

An amusing story is told of the experience of the gas company in one of the eastern cities during the late world war. An army officer called upon the company to make gas without the use of gas oil to raise the candle power required. The company of course remonstrated, but the army officer stuck to his demand and the company reduced the B. T. U. to 523 without a single complaint being lodged against the company. Gas oil at that time reached the price of 12 cents per gallon while it had been five cents before the war; in other words the army officer wanted the gas oil for making explosives and he got it.

Oil Shales
In the western country is a vast quantity of oil shales from which can be produced shale oil in large quantities, amounting to as much in some cases as 55 to 60 gallons to the ton of oil shale, or over a barrel per ton. This oil is similar to crude petroleum and carries from 30 per cent to 25 per cent of gasoline. The Navy department has already reserved a great many acres of these oil shales for future use. Indeed some of the new found oils in Colorado and New Mexico, it is said, have 80 per cent of gasoline in them, an unheard of amount. The oils must be tremendously rich to get that amount of gasoline from them."

BONUS BLANKS FOR SOLDIERS OF CITY READY

China, Japan and the Philippine Islands; overseas service also means service afloat, not on receiving ships (in this country), either afloat or ashore, computed time is based from the period of embarkation for such service to the date of disembarkation on return from such service, both dates inclusive. All other kinds of service are classed as "home" or "domestic" service.

The veteran entitled to one dollar a day for home service cannot draw more than $500 for home service or $625 for overseas service. From this will be subtracted the $60 received when discharged.

The manner in which a veteran may calculate his adjusted service credit is illustrated by the following example:

How to Figure Bonus
A veteran enlisted Feb. 16, 1918. He was sent first to camp, from whence he was sent to the port of embarkation. He sailed for overseas on June 21, 1918. He arrived home from abroad May 25, 1919. He was sent to camp and discharged June 4, 1919. From that service he would be eligible to the following adjusted service credit:

Home credit: From Feb. 16, when he enlisted, to June 20, 1918, when he sailed, equals 126 days. Add to this the ten days from May 25 to June 4, while he waited for discharge, gives a total home credit of 136 days. He is thus entitled to $136, computing at a rate of one dollar a day for home service. From this will be subtracted the $60 bonus received on discharge.

This leaves the total domestic payment at $76.

Overseas credit: Including June 21, 1918, the day he sailed, until May 25, 1919, the day he disembarked, the total overseas service is 339 days. Multiplying the 339 days by $1.25 as the adjusted credit for each day, the total is an overseas credit of $423.75.

Adding the total domestic and overseas credit gives the total as $499.75, which is the sum of this adjusted pay certificate.

Supposing that the veteran is 29 years of age. He then multiplies the base credit of $499.75 by 2.527 (see attached table prepared to help veterans figure their service credit). This is the 25 per cent increase provided in the bill. By the multiplication the total of $1262.86 is arrived at. This is the face value of the adjusted service certificate.

Factors for Different Ages
The following will show veterans the amount of paid-up 20 year endowment life insurance to which they are entitled, together with the sums they may borrow at any given year.

Multiply the amount of the adjusted service credit by one of the factors shown in the following, choose the factor opposite the age nearest the birthday at the date the certificate is issued. (The 25 per cent increase is included in the factor).

Age	Factor	Age	Factor
20	2.545	43	2.439

40	2.470	63	1.954
41	2.460	64	1.921
42	2.450	65	1.889

Loan Value Figures
The following figures show the sum which a veteran may borrow at any year for each $1 of the face value of his total insurance policy. In order to ascertain the total sum which a veteran may borrow, multiply total amount of paid-up insurance due by the figures given below:

Loan Value at Any Year
(This is 90 per cent of the sinking fund)

Year	Value
3	.08793
4	.11999
5	.15352
6	.18861
7	.22532
8	.26375
9	.30398
10	.34612
11	.39025
12	.43650
13	.48499
14	.53584

16	.64522
17	.70409
18	.76602
19	.83123
20	.90000

Illustration: A veteran has an adjusted service credit of $625. He is 30 years old at the date his insurance certificate is issued to him. In order to obtain the face value of his insurance certificate, he must multiply the factor opposite the age 30 (which is 2.524) by $625. This will give him $1,577.50 as the face value of his insurance certificate.

At the seventh year he will be able to borrow $225.28 for each $1 of his insurance. Therefore, multiply $1,577.50 by .22528 and you will obtain $355.44, which is the sum he may borrow at the seventh year. Apply this same procedure to the figures opposite the amount which can be borrowed at that year.

SEA'S GLOW WORMS
Hamburg—The noctiluca at last are under lock and key! The noctiluca are salt water "lightning bugs" and they have been captured after months of patient effort by Prof. Knut Hamdorf of Hamburg. Cooped up in a bottle and taken into a dark room, they glow like fireflies and glow worms.

Is Your Work Hard?

Many Dixon Folks Have Found How to Make Work Easier.

What is so hard as a day's work with an aching back? Or sharp stabs of pain at every sudden twist or turn? There is no peace from that dull ache.

No rest from that soreness, lameness and weakness.

Many folks have found relief through Doan's Pills. They are a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Dixon people recommend Doan's.

L. C. Meyer, engineer, Cor. 1st and Hennepin St., Dixon, says: "I have to do heavy work at my trade and I know a little strain caused kidney trouble a few years ago. My back was so lame I could hardly bend my body. I was railroading at the time and I had to quit work. The kidney secretions were highly colored and burned in passage. A fellow workman advised Doan's Pills. Doan's cured me and I haven't been bothered with my kidneys for some time."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Meyer had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

TEXT OF WALSH'S ADDRESS BEFORE DEMOCRATS TODAY

ures touching the leases of the naval oil reserves, the same remarks pertinently that the "matter of real concern is the corrupt procedure of a member of the cabinet and the convenience of two of his colleagues," and that "it is inconceivable that responsibility for the scandal rests square upon the republican party."

It is in this easy tolerance of turpitude in public office that the real peril to free government lies rather than in its casual occurrence.

Touching the abuse heaped upon those through whose efforts the investigations were made effective and the congress which authorized them, the president of the foremost women's college in America wrote:

"I am amazed, not at congress, but at the people, they seem for the first time in history to contest the graft in high office with resignation." The distinguished educator must have meant some of the people, for I cannot believe that more than a negligible number regard with unconcern either the ignominy uncovered or the palpable falsehood of the republican platform in its assertion that "the recent congressional investigations have exposed instances in both political parties of men in public office who are willing to sell official favor." If one democratic office-holder has been involved by the investigators for anything he did while in office let him be named. But if it be true that the moral tone of our people has been so debased as to contemplate graft in high office with resignation, at those doors shall the blame be laid if not at those of the republican party, whose spokesmen, appalled at first by the disclosures, rallied to level their guns, not at those guilty of the derelictions made public but at those who laid them bare.

The president of the United States himself has not hesitated to endeavor to shield the delinquents from the public odium to which their derelictions have subjected them by joining in the hue and cry against the investigations that have been conducted under the authority of the senate and against that body for authorizing them. This message on the subject had for its plain purpose the suppression of an inquiry into the official conduct of a member of his cabinet. It is true, he has historic warrant, if precedent be a warrant for his attitude. When the British house of commons sought to investigate the profligate and corrupt Duke of Buckingham, in connection with the ill-fated descent upon Cadix, Charles wrote that body: "I see you especially aim at the Duke of Buckingham. I must let you know that I will not allow any of my servants to be questioned among you, much less such as are of eminent place and near to me." Charles lost his head and Calvin Coolidge may profit politically by his example!

I repeat I can not admit the accusation that the people of America are indifferent to the corroding influence of corruption in office, high or low. But we shall see. They are on trial. If notwithstanding what has transpired the party now in power in the nation is continued in control by the choice of the people of the United States, apparent or real, what judgment must be passed upon them by the world? They enjoy the distinction of having erected and maintained a government whose officers are as free from suspicion of venality as those of any nation on earth, and they will not, I venture to predict, forfeit it.

In the hour of the triumph of materialism and selfishness, when the policy of isolation was said to have been overwhelmingly endorsed; when, as stated, every sordid interest came clamoring to Washington, the republican party entered upon the task of revising the tariff. No portentous voice now dispersed the invidious lobby overnight. The schedules show its handwork. Higher than ever before mounted the rates. If I had any way, said Senator Gooding of Idaho, "I would make the duty so high that there would be a complete embargo against every manufactured article that can be produced in this country."

There is an exquisite harmony between the policy of isolation and of a protective tariff as conceived by this statesman, and as exemplified in the act of 1922. Why trouble ourselves about the troubles of Europe? Let her starve in her own juice. Let us not even trade with her, of course no such policy was or could be pursued.

A decent respect for the unfortunate ultimate consumer placed some restraint upon the rapacity of the favor seekers. The promptings of a common humanity no less than the distress of agriculture relying upon markets across the sea forced a grudging attention to conditions prevailing and events transpiring there. The people of Europe have been constantly calling upon our private citizens to aid in bringing order out of the chaos there, intensifying the improvisation due to the war. Elihu Root went at their request to assist in drafting the statute for the world court, John Bassett Moore to sit as one of its judges, Abram Elkus to arbitrate the Andalus Island dispute, Norman Davis to adjust the Poland-Lithuania boundary controversy, Henry Morgenthau to promote the establishment in industry of the Greek refugees, Charles G. Dawes to solve the reparations tangle, and Professor Shotwell and General Bliss to work out a disarmament program. But the government of the United States must do nothing lest the irreconcilable disrupt the republican party.

For the harmony thus secured and prosperity enjoyed by the tariff beneficiaries the farmers of the northwest have paid until bankruptcy among them is general.

No such disaster has ever befallen that section. Depressed period of the nineties on which republican orators dined for generation bore no comparison to the present deplorable era. According to the secretary of agriculture forty per cent of all the farmers in South Dakota are virtually bankrupt; 42 per cent in Colorado; 50 per cent in North Dakota; 51 per cent in Wyoming; 62 per cent in Montana and approximately 25 per cent in the hitherto prosperous states of Iowa and Minnesota. The farmer's dollar, measured by the standard of 1913, buys only sixty-four cents worth of commodities, the price of his produce falling in accordance with world prices, while everything he must buy is held by the war level by the tariff.

Though conditions are most acute in the northwest, every product that must find a foreign market is affected. Banks are suspending at the rate of more than 1,000 per year, signifying social readjustments of the most far-reaching character. We are officially informed that the net change of population from farm to town during 1923 was over 1,200,000 accelerating a movement in progress in recent decades that had already excited general alarm.

The tremendous reduction in the purchasing power of the farm population is already reflected in increased unemployment in most of the leading cities.

In the face of an impending national calamity the republican party is important. Held fast by the great popular beneficiaries of the tariff it dare not lower the rates even on those commodities, a reduction in the price of which would be of immediate benefit to the farmer, lest the whole structure should tumble. Hoping for another victory in preservation in its opposition to the only plan yet devised by the nations looking to the outlawry of war it dare not take a step toward the pacification of Europe, with a view to the restoration of its normal purchasing power, lest it be wrecked by the passions it aroused to accomplish the rejection of the covenant of the league of nations for no better reason than that it was sponsored by a democratic president. It has no remedy, it offers no relief from the paralysis that afflicts agriculture, threatening every form of industry. Moreover, it finds itself plagued with representatives in both houses of congress, representative of current thought among their constituents, holding views so radically antagonistic to those of the dominant faction in the party as to preclude the possibility of uniting any program of legislation. Its frantic effort to rid itself of the embarrassment of these insurgent members is as ludicrous as it will prove futile. They cannot be shaken off. They have the endorsement of the people. No regular or stand-pat republican could make head against any one of them. They represent a revolt in a region over which republican against the policies of the republican party. With their aid the democratic members of the congress wrote the revenue act lately approved in defiance of the recommendation of the president and his secretary of the treasury, a chapter in the history of congressional legislation without it, it is believed, a parallel. They encouraged, promoted and actively aided in the investigations of the executive departments in conjunction with the democratic members and co-operated with them in securing appropriate action touching the revelations made by the various committees. They revolted against the choice of the majority of their party for the chairmanship of one of the leading committees of the senate and elevated a democratic member to that place. The republican party has ceased to be an organization through which the business of the country can be carried on. Nor is that the end of the antagonisms within the party.

The president was at odds with the majority wing, with which he is supposed to be sympathetic, on the world court, the pension bill, the adjustment compensation bill, and to a greater or less extent on the immigration bill. And now to cap the climax unseemingly dissensions rend the party organization charged with the conduct of the campaign about to begin. If these be not the signs of dissolution, at least disaster may be read in the formal severance of any allegiance which may subsist on the part of the so-called progressive wing of the party about to duplicate the revolt of 1912 and effect an independent organization.

Upon the record of the democratic party through eight years of glorious history from 1913 to 1921, we submit that it should again be entrusted with the direction of our national affairs. There is no blot upon that record. It shines resplendent. Not like period in our history is more crowded with great events or has presented problems more profound. It is signalized by the enactment of more legislation for the common good than is recorded in our annals for any other equal number of years. The exigencies arising from the sudden outbreak of the war in 1914 and the collapse of the world's system of exchange were met in a fashion that defied criticism. When the nation eventually became involved in the sanguinary conflict its resources in men and material were marshaled in a way that astonished our allies and brought consternation to the ranks of our enemies. The financing of the great enterprise reflected the highest credit upon the party that undertook its direction. True, the towering genius of the rival intellect of Jefferson, who held the helm in that period of stress and storm, is no more. The stricken statesman rests secure in the reverential regard of his countrymen. But his high high ideals, his lofty purposes, his trust in the judgment of the plain people remain our heritage. Though he saw plainly and pointed unerringly to the evils in the body politic, it is in no sense derogatory to his fame that the legislation conceived to meet the situation which gave lustre to this administration was the work of other more practiced and perhaps practical, if less brilliant minds. The mutations in their ranks have in no wise operated to impair their efficiency as a body or make them less responsive to the heart throbs of the plain people. Witness the revenue law of the last session before referred to. Had it suited the purpose of those who sought at such trouble and expense to secure a popular verdict in favor of the Mellon plan to invite an expression on it as against the plan embodied in the law, the former would have been condemned as emphatically by the test as it was by both houses of congress.

The two schemes of tax reduction afford an illuminating answer to the intimation of ten carried in the inquiry as to the difference between the republican and the democratic party. Each accomplished substantially the same reduction. Each released for investment in productive enterprises approximately the same amount of capital. But the plan of the president and his secretary gave the greatest relief relatively to the few over-rich, the democratic plan to the many of small or moderate means.

And this in strict accord with the principle of the income tax that those should pay most who have the most with which to pay.

In the process of the sums as we recede from the war period, further reduction in taxation is to be expected. It is an idle boast that five years after the cessation of hostilities a substantial education in our annual budget is noticeable.

I know how eager the managers of the campaign for the reelection of President Coolidge are to switch the issues from honest government, the repeal of the new tariff of abominations, relief for agriculture, and related reforms, to the league of nations. It is not so necessary that we immediately join the league as it is that we abandon foolish antagonism to any world movement, however commendable in itself, merely because it is in some way associated with the league. We may confidently rely on general support of a policy of active participation by our government in any effort that may be made through the league or any other channel to bring about a restoration of normal industrial activity in Europe and to establish a state of

World's Champions Drop Third Straight Game to Washington.

Washington, deprived of its politics by New York, retaliated with a brilliant coup which moved the baseball capital of the nation from the Harlem river to the banks of the Potomac.

The Senators gained a full game in the American League by beating New York 4-3 in 10 innings yesterday and jumped from third place to first. This is the first time the Washington club has headed Ben Johnson's circuit on June 25 or later. The bewildered Yankees, slumped three times within two days by the baseball politicians, managed to hold on to second as Detroit lost twice to the Browns 7-5 and 5-1. Jacobson made two homers in the first game.

Boston, recent contender for first place, saved itself the ignominy of falling into a tie for 6th place by beating Philadelphia 4-1. The Red Sox hold a first division berth by one point over St. Louis, which with Sister back in the game, is only two games away from first place and poised for a leap.

Gotham's consolation lies in the Giants, who won their tenth straight game by adding Dazzy Vance, premier hurler of the two leagues, to their conquests and defeated Brooklyn 6-3.

McGraw's team now leads the National League by two and one-half games. Brooklyn holds third place by only two and one-half games over the long threatening Pirates who beat Cincinnati 4-3. Boston defeated Philadelphia 4-2.

George Sisler was given an ovation by fans when he rejoined his club yesterday following a brief suspension subsequent to the riot last Sunday at St. Louis.

CARRY CLUB THROUGH.

Don't let go of the follow through. If the ball has been correctly hit, you feel as if the clubhead had gone through it. For the first foot, or better still, for the first two feet of the follow through the clubhead must be at right angles to the imaginary direction line.

Visualize it. It is well to elongate this paralleling of the imaginary direction with the continuing clubhead, for the usual mistake is not to carry the clubhead along enough. Always you should feel the clubhead working on the imaginary direction line.

For the first third of the way up with the brassie the right hand is under, but not turned over. The hands should not be brought up too abruptly for the first quarter of the follow through for they should be gathering the shot and going along with it.

When the hands have gone out about three feet more in front, they should be pulled in with the arms crooked to the body. Throw the clubhead up with the wrists and bring it over the left shoulder. The left knee should be braced back on the follow through. This will prevent a low flight of the ball and let the clubhead cut naturally. The clubhead does not go through the ball well unless you brace the left knee back. Try to make a good finish even if there is a bad start. Bear in mind the keep-going shot. The follow through after the first three feet is a sort of doubled up affair and the hands should be high up at the finish. Follow through more with the hands than the body, and this is especially necessary in a wind. The height of the follow through is just a little higher than you might think.

Finish well up so that you complete your shot and your thought, even if you are practicing. Do not neglect the last six inches of the follow through, and I might say that you should not be a sixteenth of an inch too short. The angle formed by the left shoulder and head should be bisected by a full bent follow through. The right side should be nearly facing the hole at the finish, and you should be standing up almost straight. The follow through is essentially one of hands and wrists, and should not be rushed. You should be relaxed in front.

The patient golfer is the one who is rewarded. The hands should be kept in their position, and you should visualize the correct path over which they should go for you, the forward hands occupying the same position as the backward hands. Would that I could put pencil curves for you to follow with your hands and clubhead. There must be no wiggle-waggle from these imaginary curving lines. If the back stroke is too upright, you will get a higher flight. Your swing should not be too round. Try hard! Remember no shot can be hit well without comfort of body and rhythm of movement. Think out every shot. Swing! If something is wrong it may be that you should be more bent throughout the whole stroke. If you are not getting a normal enough flight, relax more. Feel the music of the motion. Play the imaginary perfect stroke. The stroke should never be jerky.
